SCHOOL NOTES.

The third quarterly examination comes Thursday and Friday of next week, March 8, 9th. Reviews have begun in preparation for this test.

Several new pupils have enrolled recently. The most of these are taking the eighth grade work over, preparing to take the teachers examination; others are coming now to better prepare for high school work next year, although they already have completed the grade. A few pupils have entered the High School for a similar study, making a further study of such subjects as U. S. History, Physical Geography, Pedagogy, any English. The names of these pupils follow: Poncie Savage, Grace Reese, Beulah Jackson, Bedford Scott, Roy Burns, Ashel Jackson Ethel Hall.

Jumping standards have been erected up on the College grounds and the track for the races has been laid off. A vaulting pole has been ordered.

Our boys have practised the field events all the year and we count on their performing in fine style at the meet March 10. So far no time has been given the track events or the tug of war. If good weather returns a tryout will be given next week to decide who will represent our school in the different events, and especially in the tug of war and in the relay race.

March 12 is the beginning of the last quarter of our school. This is the latest time at which pupils may enter High school and receive credit for their work. Teachers who have finished their school for the year can very profitably enter at this time. By doing back work they make credits in two or three subjects. The class in pedagogy especially should appeal to these persons. During the last quarter of the term this subject will include the study of school management and the course of study, a review of psychology and method in recitation, and reports from the Reading Circle books.
